

... and Sunday - remember Sunday? Cold and wet and windy. Just the perfect day to get cosy in front of a roasting fire in the welcoming Dornoch Castle Hotel, with tea and home-made cakes to hand. To watch and listen to spellbinding storyteller, Janis Mackay, weaving a magical fabric of tales from past times, interspersed with haunting fiddle music from Tricia and Heather. To hear the lilt of the Gaelic tongue spoken beautifully by Luke and Tim Fairns, to enjoy impromptu contributions from the company, and to drift back in time to the ceilidh gatherings long before TV, long before video and computer, and long before the big screen.

If you weren't there, you missed a rare treat! #heritagelotteryfund #HistorylinksMuseum #SutherlandLonghouseProject #DornochCastleHotel
